LEGENDS FROM THE SKY

Synopsis

A Native American Veteran, burdened by survivor's guilt after a disastrous military tour, is forced to search for his missing grandfather after his ancestral land is mysteriously taken over by an Unknown Federal Organization.

Meet Writer/Director Holt Hamilton

Travis Holt Hamilton is one of a very small handful of filmmakers who continues to make successful contemporary Native American films outside the Hollywood system. Hamilton wrote his first full-length feature film while deployed to the Middle East with the United States Military. When he returned home fifteen months later, he went to work to turn his script into a film. Four years later he released the Navajo hit film Turquoise Rose (2007) to an approving world audience. The film continues to screen around the world.

Determined to keep moving forward with his film education, Hamilton produced three additional feature films; Blue Gap Boy'z (2008), Pete & Cleo (2010) and More Than Frybread (2012), which gave him additional insights into the moviemaking and distributing world of independent motion pictures.

Hamilton brings all of his past film experiences and determination to the plate in his newest film Legends from the Sky (2015).

Why a science fiction movie?

"I wanted to make a movie that gave me new experience in a film genre that I had never worked in before. For a long time, I've had an idea to make a Native thriller film. I enjoy the science fiction and suspense genre and this story gave me the opportunity to get in and play with a different style of filmmaking. Legends from the Sky allowed me to learn a ton about special effects and the magic that the effects can bring to a story.

I really want to be a great filmmaker and part of that process is experimenting with different genres. I've always felt that I need to make a dozen feature films before I can really call myself a filmmaker. This is number five. I'm very excited to bring Legends to Native country. There aren't too many, if any, Native American Science Fiction films out there. My hope is that this film changes that."

Meet the Cast

Edsel Pete (Navajo) is an experienced Marine Corps combat veteran. He is fluent in Navajo and currently is the Veteran Affairs Department Manager with the Navajo Nation. This is his first leading role in a feature film.

Mia Sable (Choctaw) is a professional actress and award-winning singer songwriter based in Los Angeles, California. She is best known for her theme song on Bravo TV's Southern Charm. This is her first leading role in a feature film.

Chris Robinson was voted the number one actor in daytime television for seventeen consecutive months on General Hospital. He starred in ABC TV's 12 O'clock High and has guest starred in over 150 primetime television shows and movies.

Ernie Tsoie III (Navajo) is an award-winning comedian, actor and motivational speaker since 1996. He has had a role in all of Holt Hamilton films. His acting and comedic background bring a nice mix into his first Native Ufologist role.

James Bilagody (Navajo) is a well-known comedian, songwriter and actor. He has been in two other Holt Hamilton films. His background in Navajo culture and life on the reservation give great depth to draw from for his starring role as a Navajo Ranger.

Thomas H. Begay (Navajo) is a celebrated Navajo Code Talker and a Korean War veteran who is a Chosin Few survivor. He spends much of his time talking to groups about WWII and the importance the Navajo Code Talkers played in it. This is his first lead role in a feature film.

Cale Epps is an experienced actor with many projects to his credit. He recently attended the London Film School where he jumpstarted his writing and directing career. He brings great talent to his role as one of the unidentified Federal Agents.

Drew Moore is a former football player with over thirteen years at the professional level. He has landed numerous acting roles and sees his career rocketing forward at a fast pace. His size and talent are perfect for his role as an intimidating Federal Agent.

Wayne Charles Baker (Squamish) is an experienced Canadian actor who has worked on such shows as North of 60, Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee, Pathfinder, Arctic Air, X-files, and Blackstone. His rich acting depth comes across the screen nicely as he plays the important Makah Chairman.

Derek Solorsano is a professional actor who has dedicated his life to the performing arts. He started his career as an extra in the movie Kingdom, which inspired him to continue to march forward with his dreams. He landed a supporting role in the film 2Guns where he worked with Denzel Washington and Mark Wahlberg.

Jon Gonzalez (Chiricahua Apache) is a professional actor, model and public speaker. He recently purchased a ranch in central New Mexico where he is living his dream. His performance in Legends adds a rich tapestry that makes his character quite unique.
